What We Do

Give Chances provide educational opportunities and job training for underprivileged communities— including children, youth, and people with disabilities. We aid students with quality after-school programs offered at low to no cost. We help young artists with developmental disabilities by providing internal employment and vocational training in arts and crafts. Lastly, we are a provider of philanthropic services for low-income families as well as various youth leadership programs.

Our Programs

Child and Youth Education: Joyful Learning After-School Program

The Joyful Learning After-School Program aims to provide quality out-of-school educational experiences for all students, particularly those from low-income backgrounds. The program provides homework assistance, Mathematics and English enrichment classes, extracurricular activities, and more. We host classes both in-person and online to meet students where they are.

Youth Development: Chance Makers

Chance Makers is our Youth Volunteer Council for high school students that focuses on leadership training and advocacy initiatives. With a focus on the topic of educational equity, members are given opportunities to enhance their leadership abilities, develop research skills, and volunteer for a meaningful cause.

Disability Support: DDartists (Artists with Developmental Disabilities)

The DDartists Program provides internal employment opportunities for talented young artists with developmental disabilities. The program additionally offers art training designed for professional success as artists or designers. The participants' artworks receive exposure and generate income through our annual art exhibition, sales of merchandise, fundraisers, etc.

Community Work: Dream & Hope Program

As an extension of our Joyful Learning After-School, the Dream and Hope Program supports our low-income students' families and local communities through grocery deliveries, school supplies, scholarships, etc.
