

SUPPORTING MIGRANT YOUTH!

2025 TRAINING SERIES

Earn up to 6 CEs!

A CALL TO ACTION!

Migrant youth entering the United States face unique and profound challenges, including navigating unfamiliar cultural landscapes, overcoming language barriers, and coping with the trauma of displacement. As social workers, victims advocates, youth mentors and educators, our role is crucial in providing these young individuals with the support they need to rebuild their lives, realize their potential, and contribute positively to their new communities.

Supporting migrant youth is not only a moral imperative but also an investment in a more inclusive and equitable society.

This three-part training series provide social workers with culturally sensitive guidance to provide migrant youth in addressing not only immediate needs but also foster long-term resilience and well-being.

YOUR TRAINING TEAM!

- Jill Meriweather, M.Ed. is a trained educator with a passion for equity. She has worked at multiple levels of education – from being a Head Start teacher, to a coach, to a district level coordinator and in systems level education. She has intentionally embedded equity into her practice each step of the way. In college, she travelled to South Africa to create a comparative analysis of post-segregation education policy in Stellenbosch, South Africa and her hometown of Kansas City, Missouri. Throughout her career, she has facilitated trainings, created professional development, and supported organizational goals around diverse, equitable, and inclusive work environments. She now consults independently through The Meriweather Group, and it provides her an opportunity to unite her passions for education and equity. Jill holds degrees from Harvard, UNLV, and Johns Hopkins Universities.

- Rita Camarillo, LPC is a Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC), and Training & Consultation Specialist with Rutgers Behavioral Research & Training Institute for the Children's System of Care Training Program in New Jersey. She graduated from the College of St. Elizabeth in 2004 with a master's degree in Counseling Psychology. Rita has over 21 years of experience working in behavioral health beginning her career as a youth and family counselor at a domestic violence center. Rita currently provides individual and family therapy services to many immigrant communities and currently trains on leadership development, family engagement, immigrant trauma and best practices working with immigrants. She speaks several languages including Spanish and Arabic and is proud to be a certified Nurtured Heart Approach Trainer.

- Stacy Triumph, MSS, MLSP, HSV, LCSW has extensive knowledge and expertise working with students and families to support students' behavioral and academic success. As a school social worker, worker at Mastery Charter School-Gratz Campus, a turn-around school in the Philadelphia School District, she provides educational guidance by identifying suitable education solutions; recommending courses; monitoring student progress; engaging in case management duties; and providing support to students at risk of achieving their highest academic potential.

Ms. Triumph has over a decade of experience providing adoption and permanency consultation services where she oversees and monitors reunification, adoption, and permanent legal guardianship processes. She is certified in various disciplines including but not limited to: Trauma Art Narrative Therapy, Dialectical Behavioral Therapy, Pennsylvania Home and School Visitor Certification and Cognitive Behavior Therapy. Ms. Triumph provides supervision and supportive consultation to individuals pursuing licensure as a clinical social worker.
